InfoCor Moves Due to Expansion and Growth

Milwaukee, Wisconsin---May 3, 2010

InfoCor, a full service provider specializing in audiovisual integration solutions, will be relocating its Milwaukee office effective July 30th to the Germantown Corporate Center, at N106 W13131 Bradley Way, in Germantown, Wisconsin. The company decided to relocate its Wisconsin based headquarters from their previous space to allow for the company's growth, expansion and consolidation of office and warehouse functions into one large facility, presently occupying two facilities. InfoCor chose the Germantown Corporate Center because it offers a great business climate and is a prime location.

The new office/training/warehouse facility is easily accessible from major highways, offers numerous amenities, and is minutes away from downtown Milwaukee and the General Mitchell International Airport.

About Germantown, Wisconsin

Germantown, the "Gateway to Washington County", a village of 19,750 residents is located in the southeast corner of Washington County and is only minutes from downtown Milwaukee. A suburb with distinct German heritage centered around seven districts, historic hamlet settlements that are now incorporated into a modern village. The village has distinguished itself among some of the best communities to live and do business. This is reflected in Germantown being listed as one of Money magazine's "Best Places to Live".
